Mr. James Power, recently from Washington, D. C., is about starting a paper at Whatcom, W. T., to be called the Bellingham Bay Mail.

There will be a celebration on the 4th of July prox., at Goldendale, Klickitat county, W. T.—basket dinner, oration, etc. The public are invited.

Montana boasts of many "pilgrims" coming to her happy land this year. The Gazette says the signs of the times for Montana begin to look brighter.

Campmeeting for the Yakima charge will commence on Thursday before the fourth Sabbath in July, and will be held at Center Grove, on Wilson creek, in Kittitas valley.

An effort is being made to have Mr. Levi Leland, Grand Lecturer of Oregon, visit Washington Territory and make a lecturing tour on behalf of the Good Templars.

The commencement exercises of the Vancouver Seminary, Rev. E. D. Curtis, Principal, will take place at the M. E. Church, Vancouver, W. T., on Wednesday, July 2, 1873. The address to the graduating class will be delivered by Rev. Clark Smith, A. M.

At Port Gamble, a Bella Coola Indian chopped the head off and so killed a Bella Bella Indian. Securing seven or eight dollars, which the Bella Bella had and the other wanted, was the inducement for the commission of the crime. Another Bella Coola, who witnessed the deed, told on the murderer and caused his arrest. To insure the presence of the witness at the trial, he, too, was arrested and handcuffed with the murderer, and the pair taken to Port Madison, and lodged in jail to await the next term of Court.

The Guardian says the crops at Chilliwhack promise well. No fear of an overflow. A "Bee" will be held to clear the ground for the Episcopal Church building. Fourteen new voters added to the Register. Thirteen of these have lately pre-empted in the beautiful tract near Cheam.

A large and friendly deputation of Sioux Indians came from the West to Fort Garry May 4th, and waited upon the Governor. They asked for a land reserve. A large quantity of provisions, clothing and trinkets was presented them, and after a great deal of friendly powowing they left.

The Boxer, just returned to Victoria from a cruise to the North, obtained from the Hudson Bay agent at Port McLaughlin a keg, lantern, a fragment of a newspaper, and some biscuit, supposed to have belonged to the wreck of the steamer Geo S. Wright. No tidings of the wreck were heard at Cape Caution, but the natives professed their hospitality in case any vessel should be stranded on their coast.

"Patrons of Husbandry."

LETTER FROM THE GENERAL OF THE NATIONAL GRANGE.

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., May 23.

To the Editor of the Utica Morning Herald: Having seen an editorial in the Herald opposing the Order of Patrons of Husbandry as wicked and tyrannical, and many times having had my attention called to the fact that others of like import had appeared, I write you. It is evident that you are not aware what our order is. The discussion of partisan politics is forbidden by our constitution, yet we believe we, as men (not as Patrons of Husbandry), should, as a duty, scan very closely the acts of our public servants; that we, as producers, while we furnish food for the millions who fight our nation's battles, defend its liberties in the time of danger, should, of a right, have an equal share as such in the making of those laws by which all are governed; that we have a right to demand that in all things, whether political or otherwise, the principles of common honesty shall not be wholly ignored, and to place ourselves in a position to enforce that demand. We acknowledge the fact that mind will always triumph over matter, and that an active mind, to gain the profits of our toil, will always be successful so long as we, like the ox, depend only on our muscular power; but we find that the Great Ruler has given us brains also, and if He has given us them, it was that we might use them. True, we have men of active minds and of great wealth arrayed against us, but we begin to realize the fact that they cannot eat their money, and hope that ere many years pass away we will be able to show the great kings of monopoly that there is in our order a most noble conception; that a principle is about to be born, that to him or to her who labors belongs the pay. Yes, even farmers are beginning to believe that they can, in a measure, fly their own kite, and perhaps soar as high and continue as long on the wing as though we should continue to hang at the tail of kites of others. We see a vast river of wealth continually flowing from the hands of the needy into the hands of the few, who already possess their millions. Now, we mean to stop those waters, by legislation if we can, if not, by some other honorable means. We know no party, but we consider it the duty of all connected with us to, outside the grange, see to it that the candidates of all parties be men of integrity, whose interest is the welfare of the people, and not the political ring-master's. Men profit from knowledge gained by others; the steam engine was not brought to perfection by one man, but each of its inventors took hold where the former left off. So, too, with rascality, each has taken hold where the other left off, until it seems to have outstripped in perfection the steam engine; but single-handed man could not have made rascality such a science, but they have combined—combined to fleece those who earn their bread, and there remains no safety for the producers but to combine also, and, too, as thoroughly as those arrayed against him. Yet our society is not for the farmer alone, but for all whose interest is with us.

In the grange also we are taught to advance the interests of education. In short, the Grange of Patrons of Husbandry is for the elevation of the masses socially, mentally, morally and financially, and we hope that the press of no political party will so oppose us that we shall be compelled to regard them as our enemies.

C. D. BEEMAN,
General National Grange P. of H.

OREGON.

David Weston is wanted at the Salem Postoffice where he can learn something to his advantage.

A Methodist camp meeting is in progress on the Webfoot camp ground near Dayton, also one on the old camp ground near Sheridan on the Yamhill.

Judge Bonham, of Salem, was so unwell last week that he had to adjourn Court, but is convalescent and will be able to resume his seat on the bench next Monday.

At the regular meeting of Chemeketa Lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F., of Salem, last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: R. H. Price, N. G.; J. H. Brown, V. G.; L. Cheesbrough, R. S., and C. S. Woolworth, Treasurer.

Through the exertion of the Ladies' Furnishing Society, the Methodist parsonage on Monroe circuit Linn county, has been supplied with a carpet, a cooking stove and utensils, a set of chairs, a table, a book case and writing table and two pair of bedsteads.

A writer in the Boise Statesman from Ellensburg, Oregon, says: "Horse racing is the principal amusement, and we have cayuses without number, but very few good horses. A few Yankee school marms and colporteurs will some day change this amusement, and we will number it with the "lost arts." Salmon fishing is our main dependence, and whoever heard of the fisherman that got rich. Mining is pretty much "done gone" in this county."

A forlorn looking individual, arrayed in two torn shirts and an old vest, and who claimed to have just returned from the Portland election, entered a saloon this side of Salem a few days ago, and whispered rather strangely that he was in want of food and raiment, both of which facts were apparent. Being supplied, he quickly departed and went, no one knew whither. The Statesman thinks the insane asylum, the poor house, or the penitentiary, has lost an inmate.

The tabernacle for camp meeting purposes now being erected on the Conference Camp ground on the bank of the Molalla adjoining Canby, is an immense affair, being 150 feet long by 100 feet wide, probably covering more ground than any other two buildings in the State, the Skating Rink in this city not excepted. It is intended mainly for use at camp-meetings when the weather proves unfavorable for out door meetings. Camp meeting on this ground will commence on the 5th of July, continuing over two Sabbaths.

Important Railroad Movements.

A correspondent of the Evening Post at Middletown, Conn., has several times referred to the negotiations of certain railroad companies for the purpose of securing a new through line between New York and Boston, and reported rumors to the effect that the ultimate object was to make a further grand combination for the purpose of securing an unbroken railroad connection between New York and Halifax. His conjectures seem to be confirmed by the reports which we find in the Maine and Massachusetts papers.

The plan on this end of the line is for New York and New England Railroad Company, formerly the Boston, Hartford and Erie, whose terminus was originally established at Newburgh on the Hudson, to leave the New Haven, Middleton and Willimantic Railroad, which will be completed in a few weeks, and established an "air line" from Boston to New Haven. Beyond Boston there has been much talk of a consolidation of the Eastern Railroad from Boston to Portland, the Maine Central from Portland to Bangor, the European and North American from Bangor to St. John, and finally the railroads from St. John to Halifax, which are now rapidly approaching completion. The central figure in this grand combination appears to be the Eastern Railroad, and the newspapers assert confidently that in a few days the Maine Central road will formally come under its management. The Eastern, we believe, is one of the most successful of the New England roads, and if it has taken hold of this enterprise it "means business." It is said that cars will run through without change by means of a marginal road around Boston if the scheme succeeds.

It will be seen that such a combination may be of extraordinary importance in the future. When the railroad connection is finally made between New York and Halifax, undoubtedly a good deal of the travel and some of the trade of the European steamers will take this land route, saving much time and the annoyance of a long sea voyage, which is especially objectionable in the spring and fall. To most persons who visit Europe, either for pleasure or business, the saving of two days of the ten or twelve now required to cross the water would be a decisive argument as to the route. The tourists between the Western States and Europe will be particularly pleased with this saving of time, giving them an opportunity to stop over, if their business requires it, in eastern cities.

The new route, however, will suggest other improvements for the benefit of the northwestern States and Canada. There is no reason why those sections should not be connected with Halifax by a direct railroad line from Detroit through Canada, northern Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Indeed, this line might have been far under way but for the selfishness of the Canadian politicians and financiers. It was proposed several years ago, before the European and North American Railway was finished, to construct a railroad from Quebec to Halifax. Of course it was expected that this line would take the shortest route, which would cross Maine at least one hundred miles south of its northerly boundary, but the Canadian statesmen selfishly consented to assist the enterprise only in consideration that it should be confined to Canada. The consequence is that this Intercolonial Railway, taking a long circle around the State of Maine, has ever since been vainly struggling to obtain an existence.

But another and a more feasible plan was proposed three or four years ago, and will probably be revived when the other roads shall be opened to Halifax. This is for an extension of the European and North American Railway across Maine from a point on the Penobscot River above Bangor to a point near the northern border of New Hampshire, and thence to connect with the Canadian railways. The fact that the European and North American Company have within a few days leased the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad, which might constitute a part of this line, encourages the belief that they propose to undertake this enterprise at an early day. With the success of all these combinations Halifax would at once become the great port of entry and departure of European travel, and the tour to Europe would be vastly more agreeable than now.—*N. Immortality would seem but a cheat if with the dust died our affections. When the everlasting doors were lifted and the hero, crowned and anointed, went up to see the King in His beauty, there was his little girl. Perhaps no more a child,

But a fair maiden in her Father's mansion,
Clothed with celestial grace

This true husband and wife may yet have their quiet evening together. God's love will take her to his side again, the sunset will be fair, and at evening time there shall be light.

A young lady named Dinwody jumped from the second story of her father's residence in Salt Lake City, the other night, while in a somnambulistic state. She lit on a picket fence, sixteen feet below, and strange to say was not killed.

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 26.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Crop Prospects.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The following is the official report of the condition of the wheat crop. Winter wheat is mostly harvested. Of 753 counties from which reports have been received, 252 are above average, of 306 counties reporting spring wheat, 103 are above average, 115 average, and 48 below average. The average of winter wheat is somewhat increased, though many fields have been winter killed and plowed up for spring wheat and other crops. The average of spring wheat is very largely increased, and especially in the Northwest it is unusually promising. Indications of the crop of 1873 are considered at least equal to those of June, 1872, when the department estimated the prospective crop at 250,000,000 bushels. The subsequent condition of the growth raised the first estimate of the year in the annual report of 1872, not yet published, to be 249,997,020 bushels. With equally favorable conditions the yield may be safely set down at 250,000,000 bushels. Insect ravages, however, are reported in spring wheat, indicating a serious loss in some localities.

Some Indians, Some Red Tape, and a Good Deal of Temper.

The Indian Bureau to-day received from the War Department an official letter from Lieutenant Colonel John R. Brook, commanding at Camp Supply, in which he states the Cheyenne and Kiowa Indians are off their reservations. This letter is transmitted by Major General Pope to Lieutenant General Sheridan, who indorsed it, "Respectfully forwarded for the information of the General of the Army and the Indian Bureau. The Cheyennes and Kiowas are off their reservations."

General Sherman endorsed the paper as follows.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, WASHINGTON, June 24.—Respectfully submitted to the Secretary of War: These are the Indians to conciliate whom Santanta and Big Tree are to be turned loose. I have no more faith in their sincerity than I should have in prairie wolves, and as I once risked my life to test their sincerity, I do not propose to again expose others to a like danger, and hope the Indian Bureau will manage them without the aid of the army.

Preparations to Pay the Award.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—It has been ascertained in official quarters that some progress already has been made by the British Government in its arrangements for paying the Geneva arbitration award, part of the funds being already in this country in the form of five-twenty bonds, to be exchanged for gold on or after the 6th of September, the payment falling due in that month.

Suit against General Howard.

CHICAGO, June 26.—A Washington special says it is stated that the Secretary of War, under advice of the Attorney General, has decided to commence a suit against General O. O. Howard, for a certain amount of money for which he failed to account, as Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Off for Central America.

General Wilson, who was a short time ago appointed Minister to Central America, having received his final instructions from the State Department, left here last week to call on the President at Long Branch, prior to his departure for his post of duty. After deliberation, it was decided to establish U. S. legations at San Jose and Costa Rica, those being deemed, in point of diplomatic relations and for other reasons, the most important of the Central American States.

Attacked by Indians.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Lieut. Col. [illegible], with the Northern Pacific Surveying Expedition, reports a second attack by the Sioux, June 19th, on Beaver Dam Creek, [illegible] one scout wounded; Sioux loss, two killed and it is stated two wounded. The Indians [illegible] several wounded.

Clark. The vacancy in the Committee on Land Grants was filled by Oliver Ames.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Terrible Riot and Fire in Dublin.

NEW YORK, June 26—The Irish papers contain the particulars of the terrible riot at the fire in Dublin on the night of the 7th of June. About 11 o'clock the fire broke out in Kelly's lumber yard and store in Thomas street, one of the most densely populated parts of the city. Within an hour after the fire commenced, from 20,000 to 30,000 persons assembled in the neighborhood, whose object seemed to be to plunder the bonded stores. Soon after the arrival of the fire engine the principal water pipe burst, when the mob tore the hose from the hydrant, which they smashed. Captain Ingraham then had the street torn up and a short engine put in which worked in the waste water from the main. The fire spread, but the police were powerless to maintain order. The mob tore open the roof of the house of Mahoney, a wine merchant, and pillaged it and carried cases of its contents to the roof where they drank so much that some of them rolled off. The policemen were stoned, and some of them completely disabled. Several priests, who tried to check the disorder, were beaten by the mob, and the windows of their chapels smashed. Four companies of infantry with dragoons were called out, and at length restored order. Several firemen and soldiers were seriously wounded. The mob threw bricks and stones from houses upon the soldiers, and fought them with bludgeons. Forty-seven rioters were disabled, and many badly wounded.

The Great Eastern.

LONDON, June 26.—A dispatch from the Great Eastern says, we hope to be at Hearts' Content on Saturday. Up to Wednesday noon, 1,535 nautical miles of cable were paid out.

UTAH.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Overland passenger: W. M. Ladd, Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—A fire broke out at 1 o'clock this afternoon, in a stable owned by Mr. Colby, near the corner of O'Farrell and Mason streets, the same place where the fire occurred about six weeks ago. The alarm was given promptly, and the firemen were soon on the ground. The stable was nearly destroyed, and the flames communicated to the dwelling of Mrs. Hopkins, who was a heavy loser by the former fire. It was considerably damaged, together with another frame building over the livery stable, which was occupied by the [illegible] of Mrs. Joyce. In half an hour the fire was under control. It was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, as the stable had been set on fire two or three times before the last fire, and a police officer had been detailed to watch the place. The loss is probably $5,000, fully covered by insurance in local and foreign companies. The Fire Marshal will make an investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—It is reported that the tax-payers will renominate Alvord for the office of Mayor.

A NEW CALLING.—There are certain individuals but very impecunious young men who are ever on the alert for helping old ladies at crossings in London [illegible]. The tradition is that it may happen a fortune by [illegible] of a little act of courtesy. Old ladies in London are regarded as fairy godmothers. But a new edition of these almost romances has been published. Young ladies have a share as well as young men. It appears that not long ago a blind man was crossing Regent street with a dog, and was in imminent danger of being run over by a rapid stage. A young lady, acting on the impulse of the moment, rushed forward, gave the blind man a violent push, which sent him flying, but saved his life. The heroic act was witnessed by a wealthy old bachelor [illegible] arranged to [illegible] and finally married the plucky young lady. [illegible] since that date [illegible] have [illegible] eagerly at crossings to fall in with a similar fate. They have dodged blind [illegible] all over London, and ogled a likely looking bachelor. They have prayed for an opportunity of exercising their presence of mind and securing their fortune. This, by-the-by, is all very well for the ladies, but it is rather a bore for the [illegible]. A fall is better than death, but there may be [illegible] where the trouble might altogether be dispensed with.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 27, 1873

Another Fetter Severed

Some time since we noted the transfer of all the lands of the Oregon Central Military Road Company to the Pacific Land Company, San Francisco. The last named company have now opened these lands to settlement, upon terms that place a home within the reach of any industrious man. The agents of the company offer shares of their stock for sale at $120 each, their par value being $240. The land is to be appraised as soon as practicable, after which shares of the stock may be surrendered at their par value and land taken in lieu thereof at its appraised value. By this plan, a person taking stock in the company can at any time convert it into land at a low figure, for which he will receive a deed from the company. Each share represents a little upwards of 160 acres, so that every share is equal to a good homestead. Shares thus surrendered are canceled instead of being re-issued, by which means every surrender of a share of stock reduces the number of shares upon which dividends will be declared out of the proceeds of lands sold to persons for cash. As the lands increase in value, the shares remaining unsurrendered must increase in intrinsic value at the same ratio. Thus, whether for the purpose of investment or for the purpose of securing a home, this arrangement offers peculiar inducements.

The lands thus offered are of various qualities, much of them being of the best in the State for agricultural, and nearly all being excellent for grazing purposes. The Lake country, embracing the basins of Klamath, Christmas, and Goose Lake, and the valleys of the numerous streams that empty into these, is one of the most delightful regions on the Pacific coast, being well adapted to all branches of farming and stock-growing, possessing a climate remarkable for its mildness and salubrity, and provided with all the conveniences and privileges of water and timber for all purposes. The winters in this district are so mild that cattle run on the range the winter through without suffering for food or shelter. We speak from personal observation when we say that we have seen no place on the Pacific coast that offers greater advantages to the immigrant—or any other man in search of a home—than the region now opened to settlement. We therefore feel that it is well for the State that matters in connection with that land-grant have taken the turn they have, as it must result in the accession of a large population of sturdy, industrious people to Oregon. The speedy settlement of this region is of great importance to the State and to the General Government. It is to be wished the rest of the tied up land-grants in this country could be untied, so that the lands could be made into homes for the people, but time alone will bring such a consummation.

Germany in France.

A writer who has been in Paris, and has watched the various fortunes of the different political parties throughout the struggles that have been going on for the last eight months, attributes the overthrow of M. Thiers to the intrigues of a few persons who occupied prominent positions near the government of France, chief among whom is mentioned Arnim, German Minister. It is admitted that a large majority of the reports that find currency among the people of both hemispheres connecting the name of Bismarck with the movements in European politics, are wholly without foundation. Probably no other diplomat of this or any other age, ever had so astonishing powers attributed to him as Bismarck. Since the close of the Franco-German war, scarcely a single event of importance has occurred in Europe, that the world has not in some way referred it to the skill and craftiness of the Prussian Premier. Powers that no man in Europe or America possesses have been ascribed to him. He has been omniscient, omnipotent, omnipresent. Seward's little bell was not a circumstance in comparison with the wonder-working wand of the German diplomat.

The Paris writer ridicules the notion of the overshadowing influence of Bismarck, and says it is regarded as absurd by the most intelligent men in Europe. And yet he says that with the single momentous event that is supposed to have taken place without his assistance the overthrow of Thiers, Bismarck had more to do than any other man living. The German nation is not very democratic in its ideas. It is far less so than it is generally supposed to be; and Prussia is the least democratic of the original governments that have united to form the German Empire. Bismarck is a thorough-going monarchist and Arnim is a fit representative of his ideas. But it was not because Bismarck and his Lieutenant were opposed to the Republic, so much as that they were opposed to the prosperity of France, that the scheme of overthrowing Thiers was got up. Bismarck is said to have remarked that the Republic was the Government that divided Frenchmen least. It was, therefore, the Government that pleased the German statesmen least. The order of things least to France in the way of growth in strength and position is the one that secures most to Germany. So reasoned those who had the management of the intrigue. The scheme, it is asserted, was broached by Arnim cautiously to those Frenchmen, members of the Assembly and Ministers, whose minds were known to be ready for such a movement, and was worked up with the most consummate adroitness until all the elements of opposition in the Republic had been enlisted, and then steps were taken and not without success, to secure the secret aid of some who were counted as republicans. Thus was the President of the Republic surrounded and finally deposed by those whom he had reason to regard, not as enemies if not as friends, his downfall being compassed by the representative of a friendly power in his Government. This story looks unreasonable, but it is given as an indisputable fact, and numerous circumstances are referred to which impart plausibility to it.

The Olympia Tribune of Wednesday has the following: The railroad magnates spent nearly four hours in Tacoma lunching and drinking, walking through the [illegible] getting up [illegible] here, communing together and [illegible] buying land and paying [illegible] At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the party left Tacoma on the Alida, and went to Seattle. They were to leave that place this morning [illegible] and go to Mukilteo, Port Susan and [illegible] Harbor. The Alida, it is said, will [illegible] time to make the third mail trip of the week, and that may [illegible] the terminus location for true, if they intend going north as far as Bellingham Bay. PROCEEDINGS OF THE OREGON STATE DENTAL SOCIETY

Second Session

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

SALEM, Wednesday, June 25, 1873.

The society met in the City Council chamber, and was called to order at 2 P. M. by the President, Dr. Hatch.

Reading of [illegible] being in order, Dr. Cardwell presented a paper on "The Degeneracy of the Teeth."

Dr. G[illegible] read an essay on "Dental Irrigation [illegible] and illustrated his subject with the [illegible] a young lady whose teeth he had corrected.

Dr. Thompson presented a thesis on "Dentistry—Its History, Present Status, Claims and Requirements."

Dr. W[illegible] read a paper on "The Cause and Treatment of Loose Teeth."

Discussion of the [illegible] being in order, Dr. [illegible] asked for information on the treatment of Alveolar Abscess. He had applied arsenic occasionally to obtend dentine, and had killed teeth. He thought that abscess followed upon the teeth turning black, and would like to know what method of treatment would be most efficacious in such cases.

Dr. Gray said that he had met with considerable difficulty in the management of cases of alveolar abscess. He was not prepared to recommend a complete system of treatment, but would like to hear from some one more experienced than himself.

Dr. Thompson briefly described a method which he had used in many instances, with success. He first made a thorough opening through the teeth with a No. 2 engine drill, applied remedial agents and continued them until successful.

Dr. Miller wanted to know something about bleaching dead teeth.

Dr. Hatch, in answer to the last named gentleman, said that he had used Labbarraque's solution and prepared chalk paste.

In the regular order of discussion, the subject of exposed Pulps was presented for debate.

Dr. Gray had no great faith in the salvation of Exposed pulps. In his own practice he had generally removed the pulp with the customary dental instruments. He had sometimes, however, capped the nerve with os artificial, at others with a cap of rubber, while at others he had made an opening through the apex.

Transportation

THE MEMORIAL THAT THE NORTHWESTERN FARMERS ARE SIGNING

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States. We, the undersigned, citizens of the several States named below, would most respectfully present this memorial:

During the winter months, for years past, there has been a pressing want of increased transportation facilities from the West to the seaboard. The railroad companies have been unable to receive and transport all the property offered them, and their inability to meet the demands upon them for transportation has induced them to exact exorbitant rates of freight, with results alike damaging and disastrous to the agricultural, manufacturing and business interests of the entire country. The immense elevators and warehouses of Chicago have been (in midwinter) filled to overflowing, compelling them partially to suspend business, so that the railroads bringing grain from the West to Chicago have been unable to unload their cars, and consequently they have been obliged to refuse transportation to their patrons. The warehouses in the country becoming full, farmers have, in many instances, been unable to find a market for their grain. This winter freight embargo has also prevented the Western pork packers and provision dealers from realizing on millions of dollars worth of property wanted in European markets. The impossibility of shipping said property when ready for market has resulted in severe stringency in money matters, deranging and damaging business, and causing financial failures. We would also respectfully remind your honorable bodies of the rapid increase of population and of the agricultural growth and industrial pursuits of the vast territory (more than 600,000 square miles) between Lakes Michigan and Superior and the western boundary line of Nebraska, which, to a very great extent, is tributary to Chicago in all business matters, and through which city the major portion of the surplus products of that section of the country must pass during the season of suspended navigation of the lakes and rivers, to reach the great markets of the Atlantic States and Europe. We have observed with pleasure the several propositions for enlarged and additional water facilities between the East and West to mutually benefit the producers and consumers of our produce. We are convinced that water routes, however improved and enlarged, will not fully answer the purpose desired, especially in this northern latitude, where lake, river and canal navigation is suspended for more than one-third of the year, which turns the entire transit business on to the present railroad lines, greatly overtaxing their rolling stock, at winter rates of freight, the effect of which, as has been shown, is to check grain shipments to the East, thereby filling the immense warehouses in Lake Michigan ports at long storage rates with grain at low prices. The farmers who can hold their corn crop until the next spring can store it at home for better rates at the opening of navigation; but those who cannot do so must often sacrifice their best interest to meet current expenses and pay ments, while, at the same time, the consumer at the East is obliged to pay prices out of proportion with those received by the producer, because the present facilities for transporting property are inadequate to move all that is pressing forward, and likewise insufficient to move the quantity demanded by the wants of the East.

What we need, and must have, as it appears to us, to afford proper relief to all interests, is a double-track railroad between Chicago and New York, to be worked exclusively in the tonnage business, at slow speed and at cheap rates. This road, worked at about seven miles to the hour, would carry from Chicago to New York, every year, a tonnage equal to 450,000,000 bushels of wheat, and return as many tons to Chicago. In case Congress is not prepared to order the construction of such a highway as a national public work, we humbly pray your honorable bodies to grant a charter for the construction of such road, with judicious and proper restrictions as to capital stock, toll rates, speed of trains, and impartiality in the reception and transportation of freight. The charter to require the company (to whom it may be granted) to receive and transport over its line, with reasonable dispatch, and at prescribed maximum and uniform rates of toll, all cars (whether loaded or empty) corresponding in gauge and construction with its own, or of a certain specified standard of construction. The charter also to require of the company complete and full responsibility in the care and delivery of all property which it receives. The charter, also, to require the company to make annual reports to the Secretary of the Interior of all its operations, including detailed statements of its total stock paid in, its receipts and expenditures, and such other information as may be required by the said Secretary of the Interior, and the Government, by order of the said Secretary, or by vote of Congress, to have at any time the right to investigate all affairs of said company, for the purpose of verifying said reports, or for other purposes.

In the establishment of rates of toll for transportation the company to be allowed to exact only so much as will, in the judgment of its managers, approved by the Secretary of the Interior, produce a net revenue of not exceeding 12 per cent per annum on the actual cost of the road and equipment, and no dividends to be made exceeding 12 per cent per annum—any surplus earnings over the amount so divided being carried to a surplus account which shall be applied to future dividends, and corresponding abatements made in the traffic rates.

AN AUSTRALIAN YANKEE.—An Australian millionaire named Dykshon is receiving a deal of attention in Paris on account of his wealth. He is a Yankee, and his doings in Melbourne that brought his riches are thoroughly expressive of the cuteness of a New Englander. When money was plenty and hotel accommodations were scarce he was an inn keeper. When the demand was great he would put up his rooms at auction, and thus get greater prices than otherwise. Lola Montez came to Melbourne and was put to use by "mine host," who advertised that the notorious actress would [illegible] every evening. The rush to dine at his hotel was tremendous, and as he [illegible] his prices, of extraordinary profit to Dykshon. In these instances are indicated the methods of Mr. Dykshon to make money.

AN ARKANSAS DIVORCE.—Mr. Burges Davis, of Marion, Ark., highly colored and very mad, posts the following notice on the door-posts and sign-boards of that village. He calls it a "devose." We quote from the Memphis Avalanche:

Interesting Letter from Salem

COMMENCEMENT AT WALLAMET UNIVERSITY

SALEM, June 26, 1873.

Given the theme, the writer and the equation of the head he, to eliminate the unknown quantity—a letter. Your correspondent feels that this might best be done by substitution. Which proposition may be [illegible] in truth here we have done.

Up from the north at break of day, through three hours of dust, confusion, and seemingly interminable jiltings, until at last we are set down weary and dust begrimed, at the Salem depot quite as near our journey's end as at starting—this is our report up to Tuesday noon. There is an ancient problem [illegible] that it has been quite threadbare, though it never can be uninteresting to the sufferer who comes hither to the City of Peace, which has disturbed the people of Salem ever since the preliminary surveys of the O. & C. R. R. located the railway depot away out there in the center of a miasmatic marsh and wilderness of mud. The problem: How shall the railroad be brought nearer the city? To the suffering traveler it is: Why, in the name of sense, was it ever put out there? There is dim tradition that at one time a legate from the Kitchen Cabinet came hither to pacify the "perturbed" Salem mind with a proposition that for the sum of twenty thousand dollars in the metallic currency of the United States, the line of the road should be changed. Two thousand dollars of the sum named were subscribed. Then the Mogul swore like the army in Flanders. And he said that if Salem would not bring the railway to the "Chemeketa," then must the "Chemeketa" come to the railway. So it is that the depot remains at a vexatious distance from the business center of Salem (i.e. "an imaginary point," etc.) The great civilizer has failed to impress anything like improvement on this mobile mass of mud, gray sky and scrub oaks, which, by a delicate euphemism, is called "depot."

We had come hither to attend the exercises of Commencement Week at Willamette University. Thitherward we bent our steps on the afternoon of Tuesday, to see and hear the contest of the Prize Declamations.

The capacity of the average Salemite for cheap entertainment is proverbial. It is not characteristic, but it is quite as great here as in her more pretentious neighbor, the metropolis. The formulated amusement of the Capital is—a sociable. But this occasion of Commencement Week is the lucus of the year—a municipal feast from which the intellectual Olympiad dates. To the public it is also an inexpensive occasion. Therefore, on Tuesday we found the large chapel of the University crowded from rostrum to entrance. Every nook and corner and interstice was filled with a restless, loquacious multitude. Innumerable were the fans—past computation the infants. The University was handsomely decorated. From arch to arch hung festoons of evergreen intertwined with rich wreaths of flowers. The walls were hung with handsome paintings, sketches, etc., and in all the effects of light and color an elegant taste was manifest.

At 2 o'clock the exercises of the afternoon commenced. The programme of contestants and their themes was as follows: "Centennial Oration" (Story), P. H. D'Arcy; "Parrhasius and the Captive," Miss Elva Breyman; "The Roman Soldier," Ed. C. Terry; "Damon and Pythias," Miss Hattie Clarke; "Slander," Asbury Starr; "The Dying Soldier," Miss Emma Gilbert; "Charity," Millard F. Lemon; "The Pilot's Story," Miss Althea Moores. We may not speak with great particularity of the merits of the declaimers. The selections were good, although it might be remarked that some were not made with strict regard to the capacity of the orators. The audience was held in watchful attention, and as each favorite retired from the platform, showers of bouquets followed him, pleasing attestations to his merits and the sympathy of the donor. We sympathized most with the judges, whose task was a difficult one. When their decision was announced, there were, of course, murmurings of discontent among the friends of the defeated candidates for honors. This is one of the inevitable accompaniments to such contests, and all due allowance must be made for it as such. But we were pleased to notice that the award was received with great apparent good will by the vanquished, whatever sore disappointment may have rankled in their breast. The award of the judges gave the gentleman's prize to Mr. P. H. D'Arcy, and the lady's prize to Miss Althea Moores.

In the brief intermissions between the addresses, the Preparatory Department furnished excellent entertainment in calisthenics and music. Here, again, careful and conscientious tuition was manifest. We were pleased to note a commendable degree of improvement over past occasions, in all the details of the afternoon's entertainment.

THE EVENING

Was occupied by the Hesperian Society in its Thirteenth Annual Entertainment. This society has attained a vigorous growth commensurate with the increasing strength and respectability of the institution of which it is an outgrowth. Upon its list of membership we notice the names of many who have long since passed from the friendly debates of student life into the sterner discussion of pen and sword. Among those who have thus gone forth, there are some whose names are known and honored throughout the State. To all such it will be pleasant to hear that the thirteenth anniversary was not a whit behind its predecessors in point of excellence. The programme of Tuesday evening was brief but choice. There were two declamations, by Messrs Imbrie and Allen, in which the audience was heartily pleased, an oration on "Compulsory Education," wherein the speaker, Mr H. Z. Foster, plead with strong words for the uplifting of American citizenship through the medium of the School, the Press, and the Library. Mr Foster's argument was concise, thoroughly fortified with statistics from the National Bureau of Education, eloquent at times, and throughout deeply patriotic. An oration on "The Evils of Chinese Immigration," by P. H. D'Arcy, was a vigorous but temperate appeal for the supremacy of the Caucasian in the United States. The most offensive features in Ah Sin's character were summarized in a pungent speech of fifteen minutes which gained a liberal gift of bouquets.

Syl. C. Simpson and H. H. Gilfrey discussed "The Abolition of the Pardoning Power." The well known ability of the debaters relieves your correspondent of the necessity of doing more than to say that both arguments were succinct statements of the moral and legal responsibilities of this high function of the Executive power. The "Hesperian Review," W. H. Mipsse, Editor, was a witty paper, after the Danbury News style, and quite successful, withal. Hon. Rufus Mallory officiated as President of the evening, and Rev W. R. Stewart, as Chaplain. We congratulate the Society on its thirteenth birthday, and pass to

THE ALUMNI REUNION

The good people of Salem lay claim to a high order of intelligence. We concede it. There is culture here, and a degree of refinement far more general than in any other town in the State. The University is located in a kind of atmosphere. The [illegible] of Salem [illegible] a presumption in favor of its rather presumptuous allegation of superiority. The respectful consideration which the Salem audience always concedes to the meritorious in letters must be born of one of two things: 1st, Keen appreciation of merit, or 2d, Stolid indifference to good and bad alike. It must of necessity be the first of these, because, as we have said, there is indisputably a superior taste and refinement in the Capital, and we defy the acute Portland reader to detect the petitio principii of which envy might accuse us.

The foregoing digressive reflections have been suggested by a close observance of the ceremonies of the past two days. The audience which greeted the Alumni of Willamette University at their Seventh Annual Reunion last evening was one of the largest (and the most orderly as well) we remember to have seen in Oregon. The programme fixed the hour for the commencement of the exercises, 8 o'clock. The Chapel was filled at 7:30, and when the entertainment began, not an inch of standing room was to be had. There were twelve or thirteen hundred listeners, perhaps.

The ceremonial portion—introduction of the Class of '73—concluded, the orator of the occasion, M. Tilmon Ford, was introduced. He delivered the annual Address, and added another leaf to his growing reputation as an eloquent [illegible] of justice. His address was [illegible] prepared [illegible] He was listened to with [illegible] and was [illegible] by the closest [illegible] whose theme was [illegible] It was a production of unusual merit and earned for the author hearty and liberal applause and liberal dispensation of roses.

The Poem by Sam L. Simpson, with a tribute of praise. The talented author is well and favorably known in the literary circles of our State, and his effort of last evening was, perhaps, the worthiest of many excellent efforts. In the absence of the poet, it was read by George I. Strong.

The Annals of the Association were presented by Syl. C. Simpson, Historian. This paper was a quaint and witty resume of the postgraduate lives of the Alumni. Mr. S. read in inimitable style.

"Father Waller," a memorial address by Chas. W. Parrish, was a fitting and most eloquent tribute to the memory of a grand character, whose name had passed into the history of Oregon long before the venerable subject of the eulogy was called up higher. The orator was amply prepared, both by long personal acquaintance with the subject of his memorial and by ability of mind, to express the tender reverence in which himself and associates hold the memory of their departed friend. The last named paper concluded such portion of the reunion as was public.

The large audience filed [illegible] out, and at [illegible] the [illegible] invited guests repaired to the Chemeketa, where an elegant [illegible] was in waiting. At

THE TABLE

"Auld Lang Syne" was renewed, and a couple of hours passed quickly with toast and song. In the parlors the Alumni were called to order to hear the farewell words of one of their number who so feelingly [illegible] the verge of the unknown—Mr. John T. Umsyeon. It was a sad occasion, but the dying Alumnus spoke brave words of cheer for his old friends while he told of his own strong faith in the future.

At a late hour the joyous crowd dispersed, and the Seventh Annual Reunion was ended.

COMMENCEMENT DAY

Has dawned gloriously. The graduating ceremonies are to begin at 2 P. M. In the evening the Alumni Address to the class of '73, and the concluding exercises of the week.

For Sale,

850,000 Acres of Land

IN SOUTHERN OREGON.

Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant Fully Confirmed.

THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORATED with capital stock of 6,000 shares of par value of $240 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY, consisting of over 850,000 acres of Agricultural, Grazing & Timber Lands,

Passing from Eugene City (125 miles from Portland by Railroad) through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho.

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, United States Currency—say at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240, in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such shares will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U. S. Currency, and offered for sale. Actual settlers, however, always having preference.

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq., the U. S. Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation, also to the elaborate report of the Hon. B. J. Pengra, late Surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote: "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes."

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared.

IMMIGRANTS,

BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES.

For Custodians of Trust Funds, the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY combine absolute security, based on the lands, with promise of large returns, and no investment can be better for CHILDREN, as the value of the property must increase immensely in a few years.

Remittances for shares can be sent to us by Wells, Fargo & Co., or in registered letters.

Full particulars, maps and a descriptive pamphlet can be obtained at our office, where the subscription book for the shares is now open.

CITY.

NEW CLUB.—"The Progress Club of Portland" is the title of a new social club recently organized in the city, and articles of incorporation for which were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office. The duration or term of years for which the club shall exist is without limit. As set forth in the articles of incorporation, the object of the "Progress Club" is the attainment of the physical, mental and social capacities of [illegible]. At present the club possess no property of value, but its sources of revenue consist in the moneys advanced by the members, [illegible] fees of the same, membership dues, [illegible]ments, etc. The officers of the club shall consist of one President, one Vice President, one Secretary, one Treasurer and five [illegible], which shall constitute the Board of [illegible]. These officers are to be elected annually in May of each year. The following are the officers for the ensuing year: Louis Fleischner, [illegible]; Alex. Mayer, Vice President; D. L. [illegible], Secretary; M. Seller, Treasurer; Trustees, [illegible] White, Henry Ackerman, Isaac [illegible] and Emil Frank.

ARCHERY.—A large crowd assembled on Washington street yesterday afternoon, near Front, to [illegible] an exhibition of archery. Fifty cents was placed on its edge in the end of a small block of wood, and several persons were vainly endeavoring to [illegible] off the piece of coin with an arrow [illegible] of about twenty paces. Among the [illegible] for the prize—which was fixed at 25 [illegible] we observed the bronze features of John [illegible], a well-known Siwash of Portland. Some [illegible] wild shooting was practiced, and the target [illegible] secure. William Tell, could he have [illegible] on the occasion, would have blushed [illegible] the very awkward attempts made to hit the [illegible]. John Wesley's hand had lost its [illegible]ing, for he made as many random [illegible] as any of the rest. At length the crowd [illegible] as there appeared to be no prospect of the coin getting struck, and the street exhibition was at an end.

[illegible] OF THE WRIGHT.—From the British [illegible] of the 24th inst., we learn that the sloop [illegible] had been on a cruise to the north[illegible] at Victoria on the 23d. The Captain has a cigarholder, a meerschaum pipe, and [illegible] account book, which he bought from [illegible] about 175 miles north of [illegible]. The book was evidently used to [illegible]. The last entry is July, 1872. The [illegible] of R. Barkus, Mary Sullivan, T. Bitten[illegible]. Esmeralda Bay is often [illegible] are frequent entries such as [illegible] $2, $10; beds, eggs, beefsteaks, [illegible] that the owner must have been [illegible] of the lost G. S. Wright, or conductor on [illegible].

[illegible].—The wagon road commenced [illegible] from the north fork of the Yamhill [illegible] to Tillamook Bay, has been completed, and the [illegible] started from this side of the [illegible] on Wednesday. This wagon will be the first one that has ever reached Tillamook [illegible]. The [illegible] was King's Mills on the Yamhill, [illegible] through seventeen [illegible] out on the Trask [illegible] graded road is [illegible]. The completion of this [illegible] one of the principal [illegible] Tillamook and the Wallamet [illegible]. It will be of incalculable [illegible] the sea coast.

[illegible] plainly [illegible] clothing store [illegible] goods to the amount of [illegible] for $34 saying that, that was all he had. The change was handed him, and the [illegible]. Some time [illegible], the [illegible] took it to the bank, when it was discovered to be a [illegible]. The police are on the lookout for the individual who passed [illegible]. Up to a late hour he was not apprehended. [illegible] he was in the city [illegible]. We are not aware that other merchants have [illegible] any loss through the person [illegible] with the [illegible].

[illegible].—The Committee on [illegible] the Skating Rink [illegible] the [illegible] on the Fourth are [illegible] stand, etc., are being [illegible] at the Rink for the accommodation of the crowds. The windows at [illegible] of the building will be removed and [illegible] on the outside, over which [illegible] shades. This arrangement will enable hundreds who may be unable [illegible] entrance to the Rink to hear and witness [illegible].

[illegible] INQUEST.—In pursuance of law, the [illegible] was notified on Tuesday night of the [illegible] death of Wm. Blackistone, and proceeded [illegible] a jury and hold an inquest over the [illegible]. After an examination of witnesses and [illegible] medical testimony as to the cause of his [illegible], the jury returned a verdict to the [illegible] that the deceased came to his death through [illegible] use of intoxicating liquors. The jurors [illegible] Frank Gatens, J. Leonard, W. H. McDon[illegible], J. Thompson, L. D. Newell and S. Cook.

[illegible] LECTURE.—Mrs. A. J. Duniway will lecture to-morrow evening at Oro Fino Theater on [illegible] of "Professor Fowler and the Head of the Family." At 11 A. M., on Sunday, Mrs. [illegible] will lecture on the "Moral Need of the [illegible] Achievement of Women." In the evening, [illegible] at 8 o'clock, she will speak upon the [illegible] of "National Finance and its Bearings on the Morals of Humanity."

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.—The commencement exercises of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will take place in the Taylor street M. E. Church this evening at 7:30. At the close of the exercises the graduates, pupils and [illegible] will adjourn to the Academy, where they will join in their annual reunion.

[illegible] ELECTED.—On Wednesday evening the [illegible] election of officers of the British [illegible] Society was held, resulting as follows: President, [illegible] Wilson; Vice President, D. Mac[illegible]; [illegible], W. W. Frances; Secretary, [illegible].

[illegible] ESTABLISHED.—We learn that a school has been established in Stephens' Addition, East [illegible]. Some thirty-five pupils are in regular [illegible]. The Scandinavian Church is at present [illegible] as a school house. Mr. C. Hall is [illegible].

[illegible].—Four hundred and sixty head of [illegible] will be taken to Kalama this morning by [illegible]. The Dixie Thompson will carry away 160 head and the Fannie Troup 300. These animals will be taken to the Sound to supply the meat [illegible].

[illegible] OFFERED.—At the meeting held yesterday [illegible] the Committee of Arrangements, it was [illegible] to offer first and second prizes to the [illegible] Regatta Club for the fastest sailer on the Fourth of July.

SOCIAL REUNION.—The graduates and students of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will hold a social reunion at the Academy on Friday [illegible], June 27th, at 6 o'clock.

TIME CHANGED.—The time for the reunion of the [illegible] and students of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary has been changed from [illegible] to 8:30 this evening.

OFFICERS OF THE DAY.

The Committee of Arrangements met yesterday afternoon to make additional arrangements for the proper observance of our National Anniversary. Mr. Dennison, Chairman of the Committee, reported the following officers of the day, [illegible] report was adopted:

No more cases of smallpox reported.

Buy your supply for dinner at Quinn's.

Clerks making up monthly accounts now.

Wool is coming in rapidly from the country.

Coffee as is coffee, at Fabre's, Central Market.

Are we to have music on the Plaza this summer?

To sail hence this evening—the John L. Stephens.

The cheerful duck no longer quacketh on our waters.

Sickly green cucumbers are appearing in the market.

To Clatsop, is now the watchword among fashionables.

Workmen are putting up the rafters on the new Custom House.

Look out for ague; the very air seems burdened with its odors.

Currant bushes are bending under their red and delicious burdens.

Dog swimming at the foot of Stark street delighteth the juveniles.

Mails for the steamer close at 5:15 P. M. and at the Express office at 5:30.

Stark street, in its present condition, is calculated to hasten an epidemic.

The steamer will sail from San Francisco to-morrow morning for Portland.

Studies will be resumed at the St. Mary's Academy on Monday, August 18th.

One hundred and thirty arrests made by the police force thus far during June.

The Shoshone returned on Wednesday evening from her first trip up the Wallamet.

We learn that a circus company is coming on the next steamer from San Francisco.

The public examination at the Harrison Street School will take place to-day and Monday.

The annual examination at the Portland Academy and Female Seminary closed last evening.

The School Directors of this city will elect teachers for the public schools on Monday next.

A large elk was captured up the valley a short ago, and was sent down to Clatsop the present week.

A woman, who keeps a saloon on Oak street, was arrested last evening charged with the larceny of $5.

The case of State vs Georgia Kayton, charged with perjury, was compromised yesterday in the Police Court.

The Committee on Fireworks have not yet selected the grounds where the pyrotechnic display will be made.

The annual examinations of St. Joseph's Parochial School will take place to-day, which closes the present term.

Miss Carrie Caples and Miss Mary M. DeVore will comprise the graduating class this year at the Portland Academy and Female Seminary.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Catholic Library and Christian Doctrine Society will be held on next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

The St. Michael's College will close the second term next Thursday, July 3, 1873. The annual examination will take place on the last two days.

Rehearsals are being held every few nights at the new Trinity Church, in preparation for the series of sacred concerts to be held during the coming week.

The published proceedings of the Baptist Sunday School Convention, held in this city in April last, has just been issued by A. G. Walling. It is a neat pamphlet, containing 40 pages.

Next Wednesday the Catholic Church celebrates the feast of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary to her cousin Saint Elizabeth. Masses will be celebrated at the usual hours at the Cathedral.

The Annual Register of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., for 1872-3 has been issued. Among the class of 1842 we observe the name of Rev. A. L. Lindsley, D. D., of this city, upon whom was conferred, at that time, the Degree of Civil Engineer.

PERSONAL.

Otto Treuer will proceed this morning to Clatsop. He will, before his return, complete all necessary arrangements for his three days' excursion to come off the first of next month, to Astoria and Clatsop Beach.

Rev. J. D. Eaton returned a few days ago from the Dalles, where he was in attendance on the Congregational Association. During his limited absence from the city he has completed quite a tour through Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. He returns in good spirits and excellent health.

Rev. A. R. Medbury and wife started yesterday morning overland for Olympia. He has been granted by his congregation a leave of absence until the first of August. Until that time, regular service in the Baptist Church will be omitted. Mr. Medbury will seek that mental and physical recuperation so needful after a year's assiduous ministerial toil, in the invigorating breezes of the ocean. We hope after a month's absence, spent in sailing, angling, driving, hunting and gathering berries, he may return to assume the pastorate of his church invigorated in body and mind.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[From the P. C. Advocate.]

We are requested to say that a boarding tent will be kept on the Conference campground during the meeting to commence on Saturday, July 5th, where all persons can procure board at reasonable rates.

Rev. N. L. Wheeler, wife and child, recently arrived in California, direct from China. Brother Wheeler is one of our missionaries, who has come home to recuperate, after spending several years abroad.

Rev. S. K. Raymond, of Oakland, Douglas county, informs us that about one thousand dollars have been subscribed toward the erection of a new church edifice in that town. The building will be 35x60 feet with 22 foot ceiling.

Rev. S. Howard, D. D., late President of the Ohio University, Athens, O., arrived with his wife at Santa Clara, California, on the 8th inst. Dr. Howard has been in feeble health, but we hope his visit to this coast will be instrumental in his speedy recovery.

Rev. Clark Smith and family, of Monroe Circuit, arrived in this city on Friday last. Brother Smith is enthusiastic in the cause of education. He has consented to take charge of a seminary of learning in the Rocky Mountain Conference and is now en route to Salt Lake City for that purpose.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

THURSDAY, June 26, 1873.

State vs Joseph L. Meek; indicted for perjury; defendant arraigned and plea of not guilty entered.

J. M. Johns vs J. L. Hallett; judgment on verdict.

State vs Henry Franklin; fined $20, and costs of prosecution.

T. J. Carter vs O. C. R. R. Co.; cause dismissed without prejudice.

Smith Champlin & Co. vs J. Kraemer; jury empanneled, and cause on trial.

State vs Ah Lone; larceny in a dwelling house; verdict of not guilty.

AMUSEMENTS.

The City Rifles propose to hold a grand ball on the evening of the Fourth of July, in the large hall in the second story of the Central Market Building. This will be the formal dedication of mammoth hall. Extensive preparations will be made and a good time may be anticipated.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

It is not often we see a neater meat market than that just opened by Henry Watkins, at the corner of Washington and Second streets. House keepers can depend upon getting only the best there. See his card.

COMMON COUNCIL.

FIRST REGULAR MEETING OF THE YEAR—JUNE 26, 1873.

The Common Council of the city of Portland met pursuant to provision of the municipal charter.

Hon. Henry Failing, Mayor elect, having taken the prescribed oath of office, assumed his seat as President of the Council.

Present—W. S. Caldwell, Clerk; J. H. Lappeus, Chief of Police. Councilmen Besser, Burton, Caywood, Hill, Hoyt, Lyon, Moreland, Russell and Story.

The Journal of last meeting was approved as recorded.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

The Mayor then read his message as follows:

To the Honorable the City Council: The Act incorporating the City of Portland makes it my duty in assuming the Mayoralty, to communicate by message to your body a general statement of the condition and affairs of the Corporation, and to recommend the adoption of such measures as I may deem expedient and proper.

In conformity thereto I beg to submit the following:

CITY FINANCES.

The funded debt of the city consists of bonds payable in coin in 1881, bearing interest at 10 per cent per annum. Coupons payable in May and November, $56,500.

The tax levy for the current year was one and thirty-four one hundredths per centum on the taxable property within the limits of the corporation. At the time the tax was levied the expenditures of the city government for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31st, 1873, were estimated as follows:

For existing indebtedness	$8,833 25
On account of General Fund	52,325 07
On account of Street Lamp Fund	13,482 19
On account of Police Fund	24,000 00
On account of Streets	707 50
On account of Fire Department	26,400 00
Interest on funded debt	5,650 00
		$131,458 01

The revenue for the fiscal year was estimated as follows:

Balance in Treasury Jan. 1st, 1873	$7,560 63
From tax of 13 4-10th mills	91,563 07
From Licenses	27,000 00
From fines and fees Police Court	5,030 00	131,124 30
Leaving estimated deficiency December 31st, 1873		$333 71

Of the above estimated revenue there was apportioned to the General Fund:

From taxation	$34,165 54
Licenses for the year	27,000 00	$61,165 54
Appropriations made from the General Fund amount to		$55,893 32

The remainder of the estimated revenue from taxation was apportioned to Special Funds as follows:

For interest on City Bonds	$6,466 49
For street lamps and lighting same	10,932 95
For Police	17,082 78
For Fire Department	23,915 88

The revenue derived from fines and fees in the Police Court are placed in the Police Fund as provided by ordinance. The receipts from this source for the first quarter amounted to $1,068, being considerably below the estimate.

The receipts from licenses for the first and second quarters amounted to $11,730 53. Should the receipts be in the same proportion for the third and fourth quarters, the income from this source for the year will fall short of the estimate about $3,500.

The estimates which follow, are based upon collection of taxes now delinquent to an amount sufficient to swell the aggregate receipts from that source to the sum estimated at the commencement of the year.

The estimated amount to the credit of the Street Lamp Fund will barely suffice to defray the cost of lighting lamps for the remaining six months of the year as provided by existing contract leaving no surplus to meet necessary repairs.

If there be no further decrease in receipts from fines in Police Court, there will be sufficient money belonging to the Police Fund, to pay the expense of the present police force for the residue of the year, and leave at least one thousand dollars in the fund.

The Council seems to have anticipated already a deficiency in the Fire Department Fund; the amount now in that fund and the estimated receipts from delinquent list having been reserved for current expenses and to meet existing contracts, and a note having been executed in part payment of a steam fire engine, payable May 1, 1874, with interest at 10 per cent per annum.

The condition of the General Fund, ascertained and estimated, is as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Balance in Treasury Jan. 1, 1873	$2,347 07
Taxes, &c., collected	30,378 22
Licenses, first and second quarters	11,730 53

Estimated amount appropriated and unappropriated, available for six months ending Dec. 31, 1873		$23,322 55

REDUCTION NEEDED.

From the above exhibit it will be readily seen that the city expenditures must be greatly reduced for the ensuing six months, or there will be a large deficiency at the close of the year to be provided for in the next tax levy. In times like the present, when there is a general depression in all branches of business, a tax of one and one-third per cent. is especially burdensome. Tax payers are compelled to lessen their personal expenditures, and they have a right to expect a corresponding retrenchment in the management of municipal affairs.

Appropriations have already been made, and contracts authorized by Ordinance absorbing the revenue which will accrue to the different special funds. No aid can therefore be expected from a surplusage in these funds; and if we escape a large deficiency at the close of the year, it must be done by reducing salaries of city officials, and the strictest economy in providing for what are usually denominated "Contingent Expenses."

There has been of late years a disposition to multiply officials and increase salaries entirely out of proportion to our growth in population and wealth, and a very considerable portion of the city revenue is now applied to the payment of salaries. As now regulated by ordinance, those who hold the most responsible positions, to the duties of which their entire time is given, have proportionately the least compensation.

READJUSTMENT OF SALARIES.

I earnestly recommend that you readjust the salaries of city officers, and reduce the compensation, where it can be done without injury to the interests of the city. This readjustment can be better accomplished at the commencement of the half year, than at any later period—particularly in the cases of officers appointed by the Council. I therefore urge upon you a full consideration of the matter before these officers are chosen.

MORE CARE IN APPROPRIATIONS.

The charter requires that all appropriations of money shall be made by ordinance; it also provides that the city shall not be bound by any contract unless authorized by ordinance, and that all contracts shall be in writing, signed by the Auditor, or some other person authorized to sign the same in behalf of the city, except where the sum does not exceed $100.

I am satisfied that expenditures are frequently made, which, if submitted upon their merits to the executive of the city, would fail to receive his sanction. This is accomplished by making appropriations in round numbers for repairs and supplies in various departments. These appropriations once made by ordinance, and approved by the Mayor, are under the control of the Council in allowing claims, or even of a majority of a quorum of the Council; and five members being present, the consent of three members suffices to vote away the money.

This is contrary to the spirit of the charter, and I shall decline to approve ordinances appropriating money unless the object be clearly specified, and the mode of expending the same be clearly set forth. I recommend that in all cases where it is practicable competition be invited, and contracts let to the lowest responsible bidder.

THE COST OF POLICE.

The cost of maintaining the Police force has for years been one of the chief items of expense to the city. I had occasion, some years ago, while an incumbent of this office, to appeal to the Council for relief from this tax.

THE AMENDED CHARTER.

Two or three years since an amendment was made to the City Charter establishing a Police Court, providing for the appointment of Police Commissioners, the appointment of subordinates by said Commissioners, and the election of a Police Judge. By this amendment the Police Judge has the jurisdiction and authority of a Justice of the Peace. All costs taxed, and fines or penalties imposed by the Police Judge are, when collected, to be paid over to the City Treasurer. He must make out and report to the Common Council a statement of the business transacted in his Court. He is to receive an annual salary not exceeding eighteen hundred dollars, to be paid out of the City Treasury, and shall receive no other compensation for his services. The Chief of Police and Police Judge, when acting under or enforcing the laws of the State, shall be entitled to tax the same fees as a Constable and Justice of the Peace for like services, and when collected the Chief of Police shall be entitled to receive one third of such fees earned by him, to be paid out of the City Treasury.

There can be no doubt that this amendment was passed for the purpose of securing to the City all costs and fees taxed in the Police Court, and, in lieu thereof, compensating the Police Judge by a salary not exceeding eighteen hundred dollars per annum. For a considerable time after the establishment of the Police Court the law as it reads was conformed to; and the former incumbent paid into the City Treasury the costs and fees.

THE SUPREME COURT DECISION.

In a case before the Supreme Court of the State in August, 1871, it was held that the Police Judge of Portland had the jurisdiction and authority of a Justice of the Peace, and that the limitation in the act to criminal matters only was void as being contrary to Sec. 23, Art. 4 of the State Constitution, which provides that "No special or local law shall be passed regulating the jurisdiction and duties of Justices of the Peace and Constables." No reference whatever is made in the decision of the Court to the compensation of the officers of the Police Court. That question did not arise in the case.

Since the decision above quoted was rendered, the Police Judge has not only assumed jurisdiction in civil cases, as justified by the opinion of the Court, but has also assumed that the provisions of the Charter limiting his compensation to a salary to be fixed by city ordinance was void, and has declined to pay the costs and fees taxed in criminal cases into the City Treasury, and has turned over to the Chief of Police the fees earned by him in similar cases.

LOSS TO THE CITY.

The Council seems to have so far coincided in this view, until recently, as to have suffered the Police Judge to retain these fees without resorting to any measures to compel him to pay the same into the City Treasury. The amount of costs and fees taxed in State cases thus retained by the Police Judge amounted during the year 1872 to $3,289 60.

Fees of the Police Judge amounted during the year to		$3,289 60
The amount of fees paid by Police Judge to Chief of Police in similar cases was	$1,752 75
By charter he is entitled to ⅓ of same.	584 35	4,168 40
Loss to the city treasury in 1872		$4,453 0

In addition to the above these officers have annual salaries as follows: Police Judge, $1,800; Chief of Police, $1,500.

These fees and salaries amount to more than one-tenth of one per cent. on the taxable property of the corporation.

This is a question to be decided by the courts; it is my duty to lay the facts before you, and urge that it shall be pressed to an early decision. If it be decided that the officers of the court are entitled to the fees, steps should be taken to obtain further legislation to correct this wrong. If the payment of these costs and fees cannot be secured to the city, then all jurisdiction of the Police Judge in State cases should be taken away. The Legislature should be petitioned to relieve the city from the injustice of being compelled to maintain a court, provide a jail for the confinement of persons arrested for offenses against the State, and subsisting them in prison from the time of arrest until they are sentenced and taken to the county jail, so long as costs and fees arising in these cases becomes the perquisites of the officers of the court.

POLICE JUDGESHIP.

The office of Police Judge is one of importance and responsibility. It may be that the compensation as limited by law to $1,800 is inadequate, but if this be the case, the compensation should be increased in a direct way. No incumbent of the office of Police Judge should be dependent upon fees in his court for compensation. If the costs and fees referred to, continue to be withheld, after demand be made by the proper authority, I recommend the immediate repeal of the ordinance authorizing the Police Judge to appoint a Clerk of the Police Court at a salary of $600 per year.

BOARD OF PRISONERS.

I call your attention to the large amount paid for board of prisoners, being $2,881 since the 1st January last, almost entirely consuming the appropriation of $3,168 made at the commencement of the year. It is probable that a large proportion of these prisoners were offenders against the State. The amount allowed by ordinance for board of prisoners and jailor's fees is one dollar per day for each prisoner.

I recommend that this allowance be reduced, or that contract be let to responsible parties to supply prisoners with wholesome food, suitable for persons confined in jail.

POLICE FORCE.

The Police Department is under the control of Police Commissioners appointed by the Governor, who, independently of the Mayor and Council are responsible for the peace and good order of the city, having power to organize a day and night police, prescribe their duties and fix their pay for the same.

I do not see how this department, as at present organized, can be made less expensive, except by reducing the number of police officers. The salaries are limited by law as follows:

Chief of Police, per month	$125
Captains, "	100
Policemen, "	90

A portion of the police is now employed at seventy-five dollars per month. The pay is not excessive, but I think the force might be reduced without injury to the public peace. I recommend that this be carefully considered, and if the Council concludes that a less force will be sufficient to maintain order, it ought in the present necessity for economy, make representations accordingly to the Police Commissioners. I have no doubt the Commissioners will give such representations a respectful bearing and consideration.

CITY ATTORNEY'S OFFICE.

I recommend that the Council cause notice to be given at once to the City Attorney to vacate the room occupied by him as an office. The city should be relieved from that much rent. The City Attorney receives an ample salary for the services rendered, and is not prohibited from other practice. The City Treasurer, who is compelled to keep an office open to the public in all business hours has no office room furnished to him.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MATTERS.

During the present year contracts have been authorized for the construction of three steam fire engines, and appropriations made to pay for two of them. This will leave one steam fire engine and two excellent hand engines on hand to fall into decay, or be sold at a sacrifice. Both the City Government and individual tax-payers have been, and are disposed to be liberal to the volunteer fire organization. We are largely indebted to it for security in the past; and while I favor liberal appropriation of everything necessary and convenient for the use of the department, I trust that no extravagance similar to that here referred to will be repeated in any one year.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

Plans for sewerage have recently been made by an engineer, employed by the city and submitted to the Council. A proper regard for sanitary considerations calls for early action upon this matter, but the subject has been so thoroughly discussed by the press and the city authorities that I content myself with the following recommendations:

That a general plan be at once adopted, either as recommended by the engineer, or as modified by the Council as they may think best upon the suggestion of others skilled in such matters. Our chief thoroughfares will, ere long, require repaving, and it is desirable that sewers should be constructed on, and crossing such streets before substantial pavement is laid. I am favorably impressed with the plan of districting the city for purposes of sewerage, the entire work conforming to one general plan. I believe it would be easy to adapt it to the provision of our charter relating to sewers, the cost of same being assessed to the property thereby drained and thus benefited. The Council should when giving notice of their intention to build sewers, publish an estimate of the entire cost of main sewers and branches in any district, and the contracts might be let in subdivisions, and assessments called for in installments, if it be found that this can be lawfully done.

SANITARY REGULATIONS.

I call your attention to the necessity of further sanitary regulations, which will better insure cleanliness in the more closely populated portions of the city.

THE WATER QUESTION.

The Portland Water Company has lately notified the city that upon the expiration of the present contract, the price of water furnished to the city will be increased from one hundred to seven hundred and fifty dollars per month.

The price at which water has heretofore been furnished has been lower than to private consumers, probably in consideration of the right granted to the Company to lay pipes through the public streets.

This notice has been referred to a committee of the Council, and possibly some solution of the matter already determined upon. I therefore forbear making any special recommendation upon the subject, except to express the opinion that no extortionate rate should be submitted to.

Should the committee of the Council and the Water Company fail to arrive at some equitable adjustment of the matter, the city will then be justified in taking such measures as will protect its own interests.

CONCLUSION.

The acceptance of the Mayoralty, in the event that I should be chosen by the people, was urged upon me as a duty to which private preferences should yield. I consented only in deference to the opinions of a number of my fellow citizens, who had no other object in view than an impartial and economical administration of the City Government.

Having remained passive, and done nothing to provoke my election, I enter upon the duties of the office entirely free from all pledges, save such as are implied in the acceptance of so important a trust I have no purpose except to meet public expectation in lightening the burdens of taxation, so far as is consistent with the promotion of the object for which the City Government was instituted.

In all measures looking to the attainment of these ends I promise you my cordial co-operation.

HENRY FAILING.

Portland, June 26, 1873.

Councilman Burton moved to refer the message of the Mayor to a special committee, consisting of Councilmen Hill, Russell and Story. The motion prevailed.

On motion the Council adjourned.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suite, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

"I say, Tom, that is a nobby suit you have on! I declare I've been trying to get something that will fit me to a dot, and that I can depend on to wear well. Where did you buy them?" "I was passing along First street, last week, and as I turned the corner of Washington street I noticed some fine cloths and furnishing goods. The attraction was so great that I stepped inside, and after selecting the materials, I ordered what may be termed an elegant fitting suit. The place is Fishel & Roberts."

If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E. D. Tyrie's, northwest corner of Oak and First streets, agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co.'s fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

Don't go about with shabby clothes while an opportunity is afforded you to obtain wearing apparel at only a nominal sum. You miss a splendid chance to get a suit of clothing cheap when you fail to call on J. Kohn & Co., 91 Front street, where the counters are crowded with the very latest styles. Twenty dollars will buy a fine outfit there.

If Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is half as valuable as people say it is, no family should be without it. Certainly no person, be he lawyer, doctor, minister, or of any other profession should start on a journey without it. No sailor, fisherman or woodsman should be without it. In fact, it is needed wherever there is an ache, sprain, cut, bruise, cough or cold.

Farmers and "Horse Men" are continually inquiring what we know of the utility of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, and in reply we would say, through the columns of the OREGONIAN, that we have heard from hundreds who have used them with gratifying results; that is also our experience.

A Reinforcement Demanded.

When the system begins to wilt under the effects of the first "heated term," it is obvious that it ought to be reinforced and sustained by wholesome stimulation. To resort to the adulterated liquors of commerce in such a crisis, as too many do, is the height of infatuated folly. All such fiery stimulants have a sting. After the first effect has passed away, that sting is felt. The reaction is terrible. The prostration of body and mind which ensues is more complete than before. But the operation of a medical tonic like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in which extracts of the rarest remedial herbs and roots are blended with the spirituous essence of rye, pure and undefiled, is very different. No unpleasant reaction follows its use. It is a permanent, a perpetual invigorant, and there is no phase of debility, indigestion, biliousness, nervousness or intermittent fever, which it will not speedily recover.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS
Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.
It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.
This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.
COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

Kept In.

The children have just left the school house,
You can hear their wild shouts on the air,
As exultant they shake out the knowledge
Crammed in to their daily despair,
All, save one little chubby cheeked maiden,
Who sits with her face to the wall
Doomed to taste, for her own misdemeanors,
The bitter effects of the fall.

The poor little martyr, so sorry
A picture there never was seen,
Her arms folded meekly, her sad eyes
Staring wistfully out on the green,
Where the sunbeams are chasing the shadows,
And all are so happy and gay,
Save the one little suffering sinner
That can't get the chestnuts to-day.

At her desk sits that ogress the teacher,
Calmly watching the hands of the clock,
As though she, too, is eating the apple
So bitterly sweet to her flock
Not a muscle in all her face quivers;
Not a nerve dare be other than cool,
Faint and weary she must be consistent,
This pitiful victim to rule.

But "Puss in the corner" grows weary,
And restlessly turns in her chair
To take a sly glance at the teacher—
What a comfort to know she is there!
"I won't cry to please her," she mutters,
"The horrid old cross patch! I know
She don't like to stay a bit, either,
And as long as I'm here she can't go

"Oh dear I'm so stiff and so tired!
Of counting my fingers and thumbs
Just because I threw beans at Tom Tyler,
And wouldn't learn to do sums!
I'm sure I don't care whether twenty
And thirty makes sixty or three,
I'll burn up those horrid old tables
What good will they ever do me

"I'm sure I've been here now three hours
And there's never a sign of a 'go',
I fairly believe I'll be kept in
Till tea time! There's one thing I know—
If ever I grow up to be married—
I suppose I must, 'cause it's a rule—
And I have little girls like my mother,
They never shall go to a school!"

But in spite of her winking endeavors
To force back the tears, they will flow,
And this poor little heart-broken maiden
Gives audible vent to her woe
There is never in all her conception,
A burden so hard to be borne,
For she hears the wild glee in the meadow,
And she knows all the nuts will be gone

But just as the clock strikes the hour,
There come the sweet words of release,
And suddenly clears up the shower—
In one human breast there is peace!
In less time than this takes to tell it,
The bonnet is snatched from the nail,
And a rollicking, frolicking damsel
Is filling with chestnuts her pail.

A Famous Bank.

WHERE THE ENGLISH NOBILITY OPEN ACCOUNTS AND DEPOSIT THEIR VALUABLES.

Everybody has heard of Lady Burdett Coutts, the wealthy English woman whose munificence and hospitality have given her a world-wide reputation; but few people know anything about the family to which she was indebted, both for her name and her property. She was the daughter of Sir Francis Burdett, the eminent Whig statesman, who left a large family and a small estate. He had married the daughter of Thomas Coutts, the founder of the fortune now possessed by his granddaughter, and of the famous banking-house that bears his name, but as the old banker left his property to his widow, who married again, his granddaughter's chances of being a rich woman were by no means flattering. Fortunately for her, Mrs. Coutts, whose second husband was the Duke of St. Albans, secured her vast inheritance in her own hands, and at her death showed her respect for the memory of old Thomas by leaving it to his favorite granddaughter, on condition that she assumed the name of Coutts.

THE BANKING HOUSE.

Down in the Strand, near Temple Bar, is the great banking house of Coutts & Co., as solid and strong as in the lifetime of its founders, and retaining and increasing the aristocratic patronage which he first secured for it. The building occupied by the firm is massive and gloomy-looking, and the smoke which has blackened its walls for more than a century has deepened the substantial aspect of the old pile. Inside and out, everything about it, is massive and solid. Gilding and filagree work may do for the bankers of the nouveaux riches, but the aristocracy of something besides wealth prefers substance to show. So thought Thomas Coutts when he built this structure. The strong room where the safes are kept cost him £10,000. The walls, floors and roofs are made of solid blocks of stone, carefully dovetailed together, and the doors and panels are of wrought iron. Here are safes within safes, containing the title deeds, rent rolls and priceless valuables of the highest nobility of England. More coronetted carriages drive up to this smoky old building than all the other banking-houses in London. You may elbow a duke in these quarters, and brush royalty itself, if you are not careful.

THE FIRST DEPOSIT.

The first article deposited in these safes was a magnificent aigrette of diamonds, which the Sultan of Turkey took from his turban to place in the hat of Nelson. Lady Burdett Coutts, whose vast fortune is invested in the bank, keeps here all her valuables. Tom Moore writes in his diary that, on calling one day on the heiress, whom he had seen in all her splendors the night before, he found her preparing to send it all back to the bank. She asked him whether he would like to see it by daylight, and, on his assenting, took him to a room up stairs where the treasure was deposited. Among it was the famous tiara of Marie Antoinette. On the poet's inquiry as to the total value of her dress, she answered in her quiet way, "I think about £100,000.

A SHREWD MOVE.

It is curious to know how Thomas Coutts first secured for his banking-house the patronage of the aristocracy. Not long after his establishment in business he determined to increase his own influence with moneyed men, and, as one means of accomplishing his object, gave regular dinners to leading bankers and other financial magnates. At one of these dinners, a city man, gossiping about his business, said a noble man had applied to him that very day for a loan of £30,000, which he refused to make, because the security offered was not sufficient. Coutts said nothing, but after his guest had gone, sent a message to the nobleman, requesting the favor of his lordship's attendance at his banking-house in the Strand on the following morning. The next day the banker was gratified by receiving a call from the peer, who was himself equally pleased by the tender of a loan for the £30,000. As the notes were handed to him, he asked:

"But what security am I to give you?"

"I shall be satisfied" answered Coutts, "with your lordship's note-of-hand."

The astonished nobleman gave the note, and said that at present he should require only £10,000, and wished the banker to open an account with him for the remaining £30,000.

Coutts consented to this arrangement, and had the satisfaction, not long after, of receiving, in addition to the amount borrowed, a deposit of £200,000, the proceeds of the sale of some family estates, which the loan had enabled the nobleman to effect. At his recommendation, other members of the aristocracy transferred their accounts to Coutts, who now became the favorite banker of fashionable London. George the Third banked with him till he found that Coutts had lent £100,000 to his son-in-law, Sir Francis Burdett, to pay the expense of his election to Parliament.

A LUCKY LANCASHIRE LASS.

Elizabeth, or Betty Starkey as she was called, was the daughter of a small Lancashire farmer, and to good looks added the more valuable attractions of good sense and good humor. A few days before her marriage, she was scrubbing the stairs, when one of her master's clerks was about going up to change his clothes. It was a rainy, dirty day, and, being anxious to have the work look well, Betty told the young man to take off his shoes so as not to soil the stairs. Instead of doing so, however, the clerk took especial pains to stamp and scrape at every step in order to dirty them as much as possible. This was too much for Betty, who shouted after him:

"I'll make you pull off your shoes, and your stockings too, whenever I choose it."

On hearing of the approaching marriage, the young man expected to be dismissed or made in some way to suffer the consequences of his indiscretion. The young Mrs. Coutts, however, so far from showing her displeasure, was particularly gracious and friendly to him.

Such was her tact and capacity that notwithstanding her deficiency in culture and refinement, she soon became the equal in manners and intelligence of the ladies to whom her fortunate marriage introduced her. Her daughters were so well brought up that they became the ornaments of the aristocratic circles into which their liberal dowries helped to gain them admission. Sophia, the oldest, married Sir Francis Burdett, Susan, the second, became Countess of Guilford, and Frances, the third, was made the wife of the first Marquis of Bute.

MAN AND MONEY MISSING.

There was great excitement in the banking house one day, caused by the absence of one of the clerks whose duty it was to attend to the out door or bill collecting business. The sum with which he was intrusted exceeded £17,000, and, as he did not return at the usual hour, messengers were sent to all the settling houses, and to his private lodgings, to ascertain what had become of him. These inquiries proving fruitless, advertisements were sent to all the newspapers, and next morning placards giving a full description of the defaulter and his booty, and a reward for his apprehension, were posted all over town

That day wore on without any news of the missing person or property, but early the following morning a banker from Southampton arrived by post, bring with him the note case and bag containing the whole of the valuables. He said that the landlord of the inn where the coach stopped asked him to come and see a stranger supposed to be dying, and who wished to make a communication about a large sum of money he had in his possession. On arriving at the inn, the person told his name and business, and said that he had been suddenly seized with a stupor while out collecting. As the fit was coming on he hailed a coach, which he supposed to be a hackney one, in order to secure his money, and knew nothing more till he recovered his senses at the Southampton inn. Notwithstanding his eagerness to have the money sent on to Coutts, the old banker half suspected that he had gone to Southampton to take a steamer for the Continent, but missing it invented the story of the stupor to conceal his evil intent. But though he was dismissed from the bank on the ground that his liability to such attacks would impair his usefulness, a present was given to him, large enough to secure a comfortable annuity.

Coutts' liking for bright as well as aristocratic company drew to his dinners many wits, especially those of the theatrical profession, of which he was very fond. In this way he became acquainted with Harriet Mellon, the well known actress, whom he married on the death of his first wife, in 1815. She proved an excellent wife to him, and at his death, seven years after their marriage, at the age of ninety-one, was left in unrestrained possession of all his personal and landed property, including a very large share in the immense annual profits of the banking-house. Though she afterward married the Duke of St. Albans, Mrs. Coutts did not part with the control of her vast property, which she left in supposed accordance with her first husbands' wishes, to his favorite grand daughter.

LADY BURDETT COUTTS' FORTUNE.

Lady Burdett Coutts still retains her interest in the banking house, and her valuables are stored in the strong boxes built by her eccentric grandfather. Some ten years ago it was estimated that her wealth, in the form of sovereigns, would weigh thirteen tons, and would fill 107 flour sacks. The old firm of Coutts & Co., in which she is the principal proprietor, is still the most aristocratic of London bankers, and has just admitted as a partner Lord Walter Campbell, brother of the Marquis of Lorne.

A MISGUIDED BOOK AGENT.—A book agent entered the open door of a snug Pittsfield cottage one day last week, and nodding to a trim, bright-looking little woman who sat sewing by the window, commenced volubly to descant on the merits of a great work which he was for the first time giving mankind an opportunity to purchase. It was a universal biography, cook-book, dictionary, family-physician, short-hand instructor, and contained besides a detailed history of every important event that has transpired in the world, from the apple incident and Adam's fall to Credit Mobilier and the fall of Congress. The work contained five thousand chapters, all with running titles. The agent, after talking on the general excellence of the volume about five minutes, commenced on the headings of those chapters, and as the woman did not say a word to interrupt him, he felt that he was making a conquest, and he rattled away so that she couldn't have a chance to say no. It took him nearly half an hour, and as he breathlessly went on the sweat started on his forehead, and he made convulsive grasps at his collar, and when he finished he had hardly strength enough left to put on a bewitching smile and hand her his ready pen wherewith to subscribe her name to the order-book. She took the pen, but, instead of putting her autograph on his list, she lifted a scrap of paper from her work-box, and wrote in plain letters, "Ime defe and dum." He said not a word, but the unutterable things that he looked, as he turned to the door, would fill a library.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 26, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 115¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85 buying; 86 selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 11s 11d@11s 12d; club, 12s 4d, 12s 6d.

During the week now under review our local money market has undergone no important change, and presents but few points for comment. The volume of trade has been small, as most of the spring's transactions are over, and interior dealers have only been in the market to secure goods to replenish broken stocks. Large orders have therefore been limited to agricultural goods in which there has been the usual activity which precedes the harvest. Remittances are coming forward in fair proportions. Money on the street commands 1½@1¾ per cent. per month on good paper. The banks continue to discount prime commercial paper at the regular rates, but transactions are principally confined to regular customers. The supply of loanable funds is reported somewhat larger than one year ago, and indications are that offers for grain at the opening of the harvest year will be free; but current rates are likely to begin lower, owing to high charges for ocean transportation.

At the date of our latest advices by mail from the East, the market was influenced by a decline of 6 per cent Interest at the Bank of England by cables advising that money in London, outside the Bank, was 5½ per cent per annum. The change by the Bank from 7 to 6 per cent. was hardly looked for so soon, but the private cables from the Continental money markets prepared Wall street to look for an easier rate in London at no very distant day. The Gold clique, who have recently operated for a decided rise to 118¼@120 per cent on the violent presumption that they are wiser than their generation and know more of the trade and financial causes influencing the price of gold than all the bankers in the Foreign Exchanges and all the newspaper reporters to boot, are, of course, greatly disappointed. The holders of the large sums of gold recently bought up, under this calculation, are simply in a dilemma. Most of the party are believed to be able to bear their losses, even if 115@11 per cent. should have to be accepted for the cash gold, but the situation, altogether, is not one to be contemplated with patience; and there is no doubt more anxiety to sell gold than appears on the surface

The advices of the 14th, that money is down in London to 6@6¾ per cent made an easier rate of Exchange, sight Bills in New York, while the sixty days' rate was continued at 109@109¼ per cent. The demand for Exchange is not such as to authorize the opinion that Gold coin will be shipped from New York at any time this month

New Enterprise

We have heretofore noticed the establishment in San Francisco of the shipping and commission house of E. E. Morgan's Sons, and now we are glad to learn that a branch of this house is soon to be opened in Portland under the management of a gentleman well known here, who has considerable experience in commercial matters on the coast and is well acquainted with the wants and resources of our State, as well as a hitherto future dealer in the wheat product. We learn that this firm in addition to purchasing wheat from those who prefer to sell outright, will ship for producers to any part of the world, advancing, when the grain is on ship board, about 70 per cent., and allowing the owners at the rate of [illegible] per cent per annum in San Francisco on the advance until the grain is sold at owner's option These facilities will enhance the wheat grower's chances of realizing the benefits of any fluctuations of the market in his favor. We are assured that due announcement of the readiness of the above firm to begin business will be made in a few days. In connection with the other substantial firms and individuals preparing to enter the grain market this season, we look for a competition that will bring prices up to all that the California and European rates will justify under the probable high prices for tonnage.

Miscellaneous.

The Chicago elevators, on June 10th, contained 6,350,514 bushels of grain, embracing 445,006 bushels of Wheat, 1,626,486 bushels of Corn, 1,818,263 bushels of Oats, 2,7[illegible],174 bushels of Rye and [illegible]7,282 bushels of Barley. The amount of all grades in store, the previous week, was 5,9[illegible]4,565 bushels, and for the corresponding week in 1872, 6,721½ bushels. The stock of grain in New York on Monday evening 9th instant, was 1,36[illegible] bushels of Wheat, [illegible] bushels of Corn, 162,024 bushels of Oats 42,07[illegible] bushels of Rye and 8,097 bushels of Barley. The amount of grain "in sight" in the States and Canada, May 31st, was 17,070,[illegible] bushels, embracing 1,6[illegible]8,761 bushels of Wheat, 17,777 bushels of Corn, [illegible] bushels of Oats and 2[illegible]1,049 bushels of Barley.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue writes that that office does not sanction the practice of cutting 4- and 10-pound packages of plug Tobacco in halves for sale, and Tobacco offered for sale or exposed for sale in a half box without the marks of the brand, caution notices and stamp, which the law requires, is liable to seizure and forfeiture, and should be immediately seized when so found.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The receipts are not quite light, and holders are slow to offer at current rates, while shippers will not give over $1 40 per cental.

FLOUR—The supply is good, and quotations steady at $5 per bbl for extra of standard brands, $4 25@4 75 for good country brands, fine, $4, superfine, $3 75. The local trade is fair.

OATS—During the past few days the quantity offering has decreased, and buyers are inclined to bid up slightly. We quote at 5½ cents per bushel sacked.

BARLEY—The market is quiet, and rates steady at $1 40@1 50 per cwt.

FEED—The supply is hardly so large as last week, but the demand having slackened, prices remain only tolerably steady at $18 per ton for bran, and $27 50@30 for shorts, middlings, etc.

HAY—We note increased receipts, but a limited local demand, which has reduced prices to $10 per ton for good timothy.

POTATOES—The new Oregon received are too green for the market, and merchants refuse to pay over 1½@1¾ per lb. The old crop of old if of good quality, sell more readily at 50@60 cents per bushel.

BACON—We quote good quality of country cured hams at 12@13½ cents per pound, sides 10@11½ cents and shoulders 8@9 cents. The supply on hand is abundant enough to satisfy all present demand.

BUTTER—There is a large amount on hand here which is of so poor a quality that it would be difficult to place it at any price, while the demand for a choice article for table is brisk. Such we quote at 25 cents ℘ ℔, but there are but few lots offering that would bring that figure. Good is offering at 20c and common 16c

EGGS—The receipts of the week so far have been much less than average, and some dealers have paid as high as 18c per dozen, while others insist on 16c as the proper quotation. Under the present prices at San Francisco, no shipments hence can be made at 18c.

HIDES—Shipments are noted as large and buyers are free at 6@7 cents per pound for green, 15 cents for dry. For many lots which are damaged sellers are compelled to make a considerable deduction.

WOOL—The demand is quite active, and prices more buoyant. We note increased receipts this week so far, and hear of purchases in the interior at an equivalent of 22½ cents per pound here. The ruling rate in San Francisco is too low for a standard for our growers, as the California product is admitted to be inferior to ours, as a general thing.

FRUITS—Grocery men are to-day paying 12c ℘ ℔ for strawberries; blackberries, 8@10c, and cherries, 5@7 cents.

Markets

FLORENCE!

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE IN THE WORLD. It does more work, more kinds of work, better work, and does its work easier than any other machine.

If there is a FLORENCE within a thousand miles of Portland not giving entire satisfaction, if I am informed of it, I will attend to it without expense of any kind to the owner.

We have the new style of FLORENCE machine that feeds the work away from the operator (like the Howe or Singer) to meet the views of those preferring that style of Machine.

I have located permanently at Portland and shall keep constantly on hand a large assortment of all of the latest styles of the Florence machines. Call and see them before purchasing elsewhere.

I have also the agency for the celebrated NONOTUCK CO SEWING SILK and TWIST; JOHN CLARK JR. & CO'S SPOOL COTTON, WILLISTON S. C. F. I. MACHINE THREAD, BAILEY'S PARAFFINE SEWING MACHINE OIL.

Sold on the installment plan.

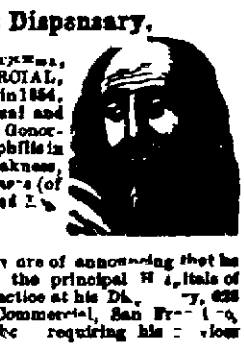
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated [illegible] fully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned home visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies, that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians. [illegible] Be therefore careful, and [illegible] inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of [illegible]

Seminal Weakness.

[illegible] the consequence of self-abuse [illegible] solitary vice or [illegible] habits of the youth of both sexes [illegible] producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms [illegible]: sallow countenance, [illegible] eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears like the rustling of leaves and rattling of [illegible] that the [illegible] of the limbs [illegible] blunted intellect, loss of confidence, [illegible] dislike to [illegible] acquaintance, [illegible] loss of [illegible] and various eruptions [illegible] If [illegible] be not obtained, [illegible] apply [illegible] in person or by letter, and [illegible] by his [illegible] which [illegible] Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] the San F[illegible]

Or those who [illegible] ages, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to any patient a written [illegible] binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Patients at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible]. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades. [illegible] are tinsmiths, [illegible] makers, [illegible] intelligence [illegible] etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you [illegible]; for, as advertising physicians in nine out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will [illegible] persons who may call at his [illegible] of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
